COLLEGE GETS PIX HISTORY OF CIVIL WAR

Mrs. Prentiss Bassett, Huletts Landing, N. Y., has given Gettysburg College for its proposed Civil War Institute a limited-edition, ten-volume "Photographic History of the Civil War."

The books contain engravings of thousands of scenes photographed during 1861-65 and text by many special authorities. The series is described as being difficult to obtain and having "considerable collector value."

General E. J. Stackpole, Civil War authority from Harrisburg, was instrumental in alerting college officials to Mrs. Bassett's desire "to present the set to some repository of Civil War literature where it could be made available to others."

College Delighted. Mrs. Bassett, whose father and uncle both served in the Union Army, is quite interested in Civil War lore, Gen. Stackpole said. Her husband is a retired Naval officer.

W. S. Paul, college president, immediately accepted Mrs. Bassett's offer. "Gettysburg College is honored and delighted that we have the opportunity to acquire such a valuable collection," Paul said.

The college is currently conducting a campaign for capital funds to convert "Old Dorm" into a Civil War museum and library. The structure is the oldest campus building and served as an observation post and hospital during the Battle of Gettysburg.

Donor's Sentiments. The valuable books are being safeguarded in the college library until they can be transferred to the Civil War Institute.

Mrs. Bassett wrote President Paul "My thanks go to Gen. Stackpole and now to you for making a safe and lasting place for my father's set of Civil War books—the Brady collection of photographs which I have had since he died in 1913."

"Along with all the Civil War letters, and commissions, and the historical material one felt was involved, it has been sometimes a problem as no individual has a right to risk a loss of these records. Apart therefore of the personal satisfaction of turning these books over to a Museum such as Gettysburg College, I feel now that they belong there rather than to me," Mrs. Bassett said.

Limited Edition. "My father, and I feel sure, my son who died last October who as things stood then would have taken care of all books and belongings, would be glad now that these special volumes are placed where they will be preserved—and used" (Continued On Page 3)

OPEN HOUSE AT COURTHOUSE 2-8 P.M. TODAY

Adams County today marks the 100th anniversary of its courthouse, with court officials present to guide visitors through the offices during an "open house" from 2 this afternoon until 8 this evening.

Members of the Adams County Bar will serve as guides to conduct visitors to the various offices, to the court room, law library and judges' office and at the close of the trip to the Adams County Historical Society rooms in the basement of the courthouse where hundreds of relics of the county's history will be on display.

The public, in making the tour of the courthouse, will have an opportunity to learn much of the county's history during the last century.

Valuable Records. In each office records of 1859 and earlier will be open for inspection. Beside them will be similar dockets of today. In the commissioners' office one of the displays will be the minute book of the commissioners for 1859-59, listing the proceedings relating to the construction of the present courthouse, and the raising of the first courthouse, located on Lincoln Square.

In the clerk of court's office, charts will depict the number of cases in 1859—compared with this year's case load, and records of 1859 will be on display. Similarly in the prothonotary's and other offices, dockets, records and similar files of a century ago will be on display.

Some plan displays of records going back to the beginning of the county in 1800.

In the historical society rooms members of the society will be present to explain historical relics and records on display there ranging over the entire period of the county's history, back into the days when it was part of York County.

The organization hopes to enlist members from every school district in the county for junior auxiliary aid for the library.

Hagerty also said at this morning's press conference that the President would like very much to cap off his European trip by a visit to Culzean Castle in Ayrshire, Scotland, where a suite has been provided for his use for life by the Scottish people. COURT LOWERS SUPPORT ORDER $10 PER MONTH

The Adams County Court Friday afternoon set the support order for George Collier, son of Mrs. Marie H. Collier, Takoma Park, Md., at $10 a month less than Mrs. Collier's former husband and foster father of the child, Glendon F. Collier, 17 N. Washington St., had been voluntarily paying prior to the filing of the petition for support against him.

Collier, a teacher of German and Russian at Gettysburg College, had adopted the child in California, while studying for his Master's degree, during which time he and Mrs. Marie Collier were married. The couple separated after their return east.

Was Paying $50. Collier had been paying $50 a month toward the support of the child. After the court heard testimony in the case, it set $40 per month as the amount of support and ruled that Collier should have an opportunity to see the youngster. Mrs. Collier opposed the visits. A hearing was set for September at which she may present testimony as to why the local man should not see his adopted son.

Collier declared that the courts of California erred in permitting him to adopt the child while not a resident of California. The local court ruled that while a student does not have a domicile where he goes to school, he can at any time establish a domicile in the town where he attends school. The court said Collier had done that when he applied to the California court for the adoption.

How times change . . .

It wasn't too long ago that kids walked — or, if they were lucky, rode a bike — to school each day. Some of our parents rode horseback to school.

Those days, the distance most children had to cover was at least a mile, often more — and regardless of the weather.

Those days are gone forever. Many students still walk to school, but increasing numbers drive.

The problem of schools in bygone days was to get enough racks for students' bicycles. Today, high schools often must build parking lots to hold the mass of motor vehicles their students arrive in.

If schools don't construct parking lots, students have to leave their cars around the school building — thereby creating a traffic hazard for motorists and pedestrians.

The motor vehicle, then, can be quite a headache to schools.

Nearly six million teenagers

— many of them students — drive cars. They make up about 1 out of 14 of the nation's 80 million licensed drivers.

A teenage driver is involved in 1 out of 10 fatal auto accidents. Main fault of teens, according to the National Safety Council: A tendency to speed.

"Lots of teenagers drive to school today," the council said. "And, unfortunately, young people too often get an urge to show off around their friends."

"The result? More accidents involving teenagers."

Solution to the problem?

"One way to bring down the accident toll among young drivers is for every student to take driver education," the Council said. It urged adherence to this driving code:

1. Be proud of your driving. Do your part to prove teenagers can be the best drivers on the road.
2. Smooth driving is the mark of a pro. Don't make jackrabbit starts, squealing turns and fast stops.
3. Be courteous at the wheel. Give the other fellow a break.
4. Don't try to get ahead of the other driver, or to even the score if he's inconsiderate.
5. Speed is a killer. Adjust it to road, weather and traffic conditions.
6. Keep both hands on the wheel and your eyes on the road.
7. Obey the law. Stop at stop signs.
8. Keep your car in top condition. Give special attention to tires, lights and brakes.
9. Don't be a bumper chaser. Keep a safe distance between you and the car ahead.

Mr. Paul L. Roy, Editor
The Gettysburg Times
Gettysburg, Pennsylvania

Dear Mr. Roy:
I should like to express to you the sincere thanks of the Gettysburg Young Farmers Association for the excellent coverage you gave us on our Farm-City Day, August 6, 1959.

We feel it was a very successful project, and was both entertaining and educational to the many visitors we had at Mr. Waybright's farm. We feel a great deal of credit for the fine turn-out of people goes to the publicity you gave us, and believe that if we were to sponsor another such project the attendance would be stimulated by the fine notices and pictures you presented of our first attempt.

It is most encouraging and gratifying to an organization such as ours when the press and radio are so generous in publicizing our activities.

Again, our thanks for your help.

Sincerely yours,
Lyndale R. Brandon
Publicity Chairman

ROCKEFELLER IS EVASIVE ON GOP CANDIDACY

KRISTIANSTAD, Norway (AP)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller said today he does not believe there will be any move to draft him as the Republican candidate for the presidency.

The New York governor made the statement at a news conference. He is here for the marriage of his son Steven to Anne Marie Rasmussen.

He repeated that he is not a candidate and that he would not be interested in being the nominee for vice president. Asked to comment on the possibility of a move to draft him, he said:

"I don't think there is any such thing."

"I said No"

He said he did not anticipate any action to draft him. Reporters asked if he would accept the GOP nomination on such terms. His answer was lost in a chorus of succeeding questions. When the question was repeated, he replied, "I said no."

Rockefeller has said he might change his position with respect to becoming a candidate for the nomination under certain circumstances. Reporters asked again whether his decision would be based on the findings of public opinion polls. He said it would not.

He replied "I'd prefer not to discuss the situation" when questioned about the circumstances that could make him a presidential candidate.

Twice, Rockefeller burst into laughter when a reporter addressed him as "Mr. Roosevelt."

"That man must be a Democrat," he said.

James MARLOW Reports

The Associated Press

WASHINGTON (AP)—American leadership is showing a growing concern about the ability of this country—at the rate and in the way we are going—to keep up with Soviet progress.

Time was when Soviet claims to achievement were taken with a grain of salt in the United States.

That attitude began to change when the Soviets showed how far advanced they were, industrially and scientifically, first by making the atom bomb, then the hydrogen bomb, and then beating us into outer space with their Sputniks in 1957.

President's Views

Earlier in the week this writer reported President Eisenhower:

1. Is concerned about the driving urge to get ahead which the Soviets' seven-year plan is giving them.

2. Thinks this country needs an incentive toward harder work—something similar to the seven-year plan—which he believes is providing the Soviet people with the moral equivalent of war.

Work Harder

3. Feels Americans must be induced to work harder, think more of achievement, less of leisure and money.

Now comes the Draper committee—a 10-man group headed by the investment banker, William H. Draper Jr.—which sounds like a direct echo of the President.

Eisenhower created this committee to study the United States program of military assistance to other countries. Its report, made public Thursday, urged even bigger aid and went much beyond talking in terms of weapons alone.

Soviet Challenge

The 10-man group sought to look at the Soviet challenge from many angles—its progress, its productive expansion, its goals, and its tactics—plus the need it creates for American efforts to match Soviet efforts.

The committee, noting the Soviets are maintaining a higher rate of growth than the United States in industrial production and in their technology and technical education, said:

"Their objective of equaling and exceeding the United States in selected areas of their own choosing has provided an unusual psychological stimulation to their people which we must more than match by dedication to our own cause."

Cannot Be Ignored

NOBLE COUPLE SALUTE AMANA CHURCH GROUP

By TOM HENSHAW
AP Religion Writer

German royalty, in the persons of the Prince and Princess of Ysenburg-Budingen, makes an appearance in Iowa next week to join in a salute to some old friends of the family—the Amana Church Society.

Amana, which began as a tight little religious commune and survived by separating church from state, observes its 100th anniversary Monday in its seven small villages about 20 miles southwest of Cedar Rapids.

The visiting prince is a descendant of an earlier German nobleman, a prince of Hesse, who gave refuge to the ancestors of the Amanians when they were persecuted as enemies of the established church.

Century Old Group

The Amana Church Society, although it wasn't called that then, actually dates back more than 100 years. It began as a pietistic, separatist movement in Germany in the early 18th century.

Persecutions drove members to the United States where they settled first near Buffalo as the Eben Ezer Society and then in Iowa as Amana, which means "believe faithfully."

The 100th anniversary observes the day when the state of Iowa granted a charter to Amana; East, Middle, High, South and West Amana—and purchased the nearby village of Homestead.

Rule By Elders

Early Amana, like many other religious communities that later withered and died, was ruled by a board of elders who were all powerful in both spiritual and temporal affairs.

All property was held in common. Clothing worn by men and women was plain and sober in color. The people ate communally in mess-hall-style buildings, the food prepared by the women.

Religious services, the most important events of the week, were held in meeting houses with whitewashed walls, bare floors and unpainted benches. Members were required to attend 11 services a week.

Drastring Reorganization

Gradually, as changes in the outside world made themselves felt on Amana, the sober existence began to pall on its members. The communities began to lose people, particularly young people.

The elders of the society decided upon a drastic plan of reorganization. Church and state were separated into the Amana Church Society and the new Amana Society, a decidedly secular stock corporation.

Members used their stock to purchase their homes from the corporation. The communal dining halls were closed. Some of them reopened as inns and restaurants. All this happened as late as the 1930s.

On the spiritual side, most Amanians have retained the essentials of the religion and German culture brought to Iowa by their forebears. And that's why German nobility is taking part in next week's ceremony.

suggest the need for real concern about our present and prospective rates of progress which will determine our future ability to compete with communist states.

All this requires a positive individual and national dedication, greater emphasis on hard constructive work and thought, less rather than more emphasis on leisure, more rather than less application to our tasks."

The similarity between Eisenhower's thinking and the committee's statement may have been the result of the President's having seen the Draper report before it was made public.

National Goals

But he was concerned about this problem of competition and incentives many months ago. He an-

Khrushchev Will Visit Six American Cities On Tour

By LEWIS GULICK

WASHINGTON (AP)—The White House was expected to announce soon, perhaps today, that Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev will stop at six American cities during his 12-day U.S. visit starting Sept. 15.

Khrushchev is slated to speak at the National Press Club here Sept. 16 and answer reporters' questions in a nationally televised appearance.

He will address the U.N. General Assembly in New York two days later.

Diplomatic sources said they expect Khrushchev's schedule will be announced at President Eisenhower's summer headquarters at Gettysburg, Pa., probably today but perhaps Monday.

Details Later

The announcement was not expected to include precise details on Khrushchev's scheduled activities at the various stops, since these have not yet been worked out.

Subject to last-minute change, here is the proposed itinerary for Khrushchev:

Washington—about two days.
New York—about two days.
Los Angeles—one day.
San Francisco—two days.
Des Moines, Iowa—one day.
Pittsburgh—one day.
Washington—three days.

Newsman Problem

Accommodations for newsmen and photographers wanting to accompany the Soviet leader are a growing problem for State Department officials.

So far 471 have asked for accreditation to the official party. Of this total 193 have asked to follow Khrushchev the whole way.

Catholic Pledges Are Now Renewed

WASHINGTON (AP)—At a mid-December Sunday Mass, Roman Catholics across the country were asked to renew a pledge of the National Legion of Decency, a church agency which evaluates motion pictures. The pledge states in part:

"I condemn indecent and immoral motion pictures and those which glorify crime or criminals. I promise, further, to stay away altogether from places of amusement which show them as a matter of policy."

Pro Tells Of Tough Hole In U. S. Open

MAMARONECK, N. Y. (AP)—Gene Sarazen says the third hole, 227 yards from the back tee, is the toughest on the West course at Winged Foot where the U. S. Open will be held June 11-13. "It is a long wood shot," says Sarazen, "probably a No. 3 wood, to a green which is tight and trapped for a man hitting a No. 7 iron. It requires tremendous accuracy to hit and hold the green, with the big yawning traps on each side of the narrow opening. I think there will be more double bogies on this hole than on any other over the course."

IPSWICH, England (AP)—The Bishop of Ipswich won three first prizes at the East England Horticultural Society's flower show in this Suffolk town.

nounced in his State of the Union message last January he would create a committee to study and then propose national goals.

The Soviets' seven-year plan is in their case a national goal. Eisenhower is ready to name his committee as soon as he can find enough private organizations to finance its work. He doesn't want the government to foot the bill.

But neither Eisenhower nor the Draper committee has come up with an answer to the question they raise:

Free Society

How can Americans—people in a free society—be induced to work harder and think less of leisure and money in order to compete with the Soviet people living under a dictatorship which can direct, control and compel them?

The dictatorship controls everything: People's lives; the work they do; where they work and on what and for how long; the luxuries they can have or must do without; their hours; prices; wages; and the means of production and distribution.

We may be entering a period of public-breast beating for our failures to do more and do without more. But self-flagellation is neither an answer nor a substitute for action.

Perhaps Eisenhower's committee on goals may produce suggestions for the old philosophical, but now very real, problem of how a free people, with all that means, can compete with a people controlled and centrally directed.

The Cinderella romance caught the imagination of the world and brought foreign newsmen and television crews into this usually quiet village along with crowds of tourists and others. Extra police had to be hired.

The Sogne Lutheran Evangelical Church was decorated with pink carnations and roses covering the center aisle leading to the altar. African lilies, gladioli and chrysanthemums bloomed everywhere in the church.

—for the uncounted years to come," she added.

Published in 1911 by the Review of Review Co., New York, the volumes were "dedicated fifty years after Fort Sumter to the men in blue and gray whose valor and devotion have become the priceless heritage of a united nation."

"This edition of The Photographic History of the Civil War, printed on special paper from first impressions of new plates, is limited to 1,000 sets of which this is copy number 65," the new frontispiece states.

Collector's Item

The collectors item is imprinted by the Trow Press, New York. Patriot Publishing Company, Springfield, Mass., held the copyright. Francis Trevelyan Miller was editor-in-chief and Robert S. Lanier, managing editor.

Numerous contemporary photographs of the Gettysburg Battlefield are contained in the Civil War pictorial series. The volumes are generally in sound condition. The bookplates are marked "Ex Libris Daniel Gano Gillette."

Fought At Gettysburg

Mrs. Bassett writes: "My father, Daniel Gano Gillette, was born in 1842. He enlisted the first time in the 37th Reg. N. Y. Vols., was invalided home, and then re-enlisted in the 17th N. Y. Vols. as a lieutenant, and served as such in the Red River campaign. He was captured in the fight at Brashers City, La., marched to Tyler, Tex., and spent 13 months at Camp Ford there. He and his brother, Maj. James Gillette, are both buried here above Bluff Head on the side of our mountain (near Glens Falls, N. Y.).

James Gillette, a captain on Gen. Geary's staff, fought at Gettysburg.

"If I come across more Museum war relics, I may submit them for your inspection and consideration at some future time," Mrs. Bassett wrote to President Paul. "There are a few small items which might someday fit into your museum—a pipe for one thing carved in Liberty Prison by my Uncle Jim, and an old war-time photograph or two," the donor said.

ROBERT YOUNG SHOW BREAKS TV PRECEDENT

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—How long can a TV series keep going? Warner Anderson of "The Lineup" says the life expectancy of a hit series is four or five years. "Shows like 'I Love Lucy' and 'My Friend Irma' start to pall after that time," he argues. "The public begins to say, 'I've seen that before.'"

Robert Young Show
Yet here is "Father Knows Best" defying all the experts by swinging into its sixth year stronger than ever. I dropped by the set to see how Robert Young's TV wife, Jane Wyatt, is bearing up under the grind.

"I can't understand it," she remarked. "At this stage in a series, everything is supposed to start dwindling. But the scripts keep getting better and better. We've had four for the next season that are among the best we've ever had."

Is Hard Work

Therein lies one secret of the show's continued favor: Good scripts, plus careful shooting. Many filmed series are ground out in two or three days. "Father Knows Best" has a day of rehearsal and four days of filming. "It's hard work," Jane admitted. "We have, of course, what actors seldom achieve—the security of a steady job. But I'm not so sure that I would have signed on if I had known it would last for six years. I don't like knowing that I will be doing the same thing so long."

The Emmy award winner still has trouble convincing fans she isn't really married to Bob Young (her husband is businessman Edgar Ward). I asked her how much longer this double life could last.

"Contractually, just one more year," she said. "I signed a seven-year deal for the series. No, I can't see it going any longer than that."

Urged To Become U.S. Citizens:
Eighty refugees from Communism

County to take up new lives as farm workers in America formed the Ukrainian Relief Association meeting Sunday afternoon near New Chester.Gathered on the shady lawn of Fair Acres, home of J. W. Bishop, the Ukrainian "displaced persons"

to Adams county, the men, women and children heard Ukrainian-American Relief

their responsibilities as prospective citizens of America.
Dr. Walter Galien, Philadelphia, executive director of the United Ukrainian-American Relief

as possible.Adams Population Now Over 45,000: Adams county's population has increased by more than 6,000 in the last eight years, according to estimates released by the planning board of the state Department of Commerce. All but 10 counties in the state showed population gains in the same period.This county had a population of 39,485 in the 1940 census. In 1944 its population was estimated to be 40,500 and the estimate for 1948 is 45,000.Biggest Apple Crop Since '48
In This County: A 3,600,000 bushel apple crop and an 800,000 plus bushel peach crop.That was the estimate of 1949 production made by fruit growers today. The Adams County fruit growers based their predictions on what they have seen in the orchards as compared to 1948
when an actual count was taken,
and compared to other years of experience in the fruit business.Harvest of Big Tomato Crop Is Near Its Peak: Adams County's tomato harvest, which should run over 10,000 tons, was nearing its peak today.Thousands of baskets of the lush red ripe fruit have been moving from the fields to the receiving lines on platforms of Adams county processing plants. By next week the harvest should have reached its peak.
Prices for the thousands of tons of tomatoes are good. The C. R. Musselman company at Biglerville is paying $68 a ton for first grade tomatoes and $18 a ton for second grade to contract growers.J. B. Bushy Retires After 46

THINGS BETTER THAN GOLD

Character cannot be measured in terms of property and possessions.
There is more wealth in the human heart than in all the mines of gold, discovered to this date. There are endless things greater, and more marvelous than mere gold. Friends for one. All along the way of life are poets and names of many great men and women who have proved that there are many things that are better than gold and more beautiful.
A baby's smile for example.Nature bursts with things that are greater than gold and better.
The very earth is crowded with undiscovered treasures. There you will discover the greatest laboratory in the world. We are made up from its elements. This nature displays itself in the break of dawn, in the feathery clouds, and in the call of birds. Something is always going on. What miracles we miss—all better than gold.There is no study more fascinating than natural history. You will have revealed to you great truths that you never before knew.
You see wonders all about you.
You will be humble and amazed.
Time displays its maps and samples.
In the blue of the sky you will have the great Creator revealed to you. The stars in the sky, and each sunset will bury its beauty in your heart! How many things are far greater than gold!Nature asks for nothing but gives us all. Man fumbles most of its revelations. He misses its spiritual quality that contributes so much to his happiness.Presented, 1949, by The George Matthew Adams Service

Just Folks

THE MAN WHO'S BEEN FISHINGNo need to ask where he has been.
It's just as plain as day.
His face is like a sunset scene,
For he has been away;
His brow is blistered, and his nose
Has now begun to peel;
His cheeks are like the red, red rose,
His arms like red hot steel.The man who's been out fishing, now
Has teltum on his neck;
Gold cream is dabbed upon his brow,
His village is a wreck.
With nothing looting he is enraged,
He is a sight to see;
He has a four days' growth of beard,
A week of misery.Oh, fellows in the vineyard who
Can never get away,
Do not become, as many do,
Because you have to stay,
You envy him who fishing goes,
But here's another case;
You do not envy him his nose,
Nor want his blistered face.

Early Settlers

By B. F. M. MacPHERSON

Early Interrelationships

In tracing the family trees of the pioneer settlers of almost any nationality, in this or any other locality, the genealogist finds a maze of relationships—due to intermarriage. This situation existed in the Marsh Creek Settlement and many of the people buried inBlack's Graveyard (Upper Marsh Creek Presbyterian) were related to one another—in some degree or other. The notes on the Buchanan-Morrison, Dickson family illustrate this point very adequately. In addition familynames were used generation after generation and their bit tothe confusion—for better or worse.

With this warning the historical andgenealogical study of Black's Graveyard is continued.John Morrison (died 1749) and his wife, Catharine (died 1752), who are buried under one largeslab of black slate in Black's Graveyard, were, according to a family tradition, the parents of"several children." It is probable that the John Morrison, who died intestate in 1779, in CumberlandTownship, York (now Adams) County, Province of Pennsylvania, was their son. Letters of Admin-istration, on the estate of John Morrison II, were granted to his widow, Mary Morrison, and his eldest son, Joseph Morrison.

Other Family Members
The court records mention other members of the family, as follows:

1. Daughter, Martha Morrison intermarried with William McCarty.

2. Daughter, Mary Morrison inter-married with Christopher Owens.3. Daughter, Catharine Morrison intermarried with James Long.Note:—Catharine (Morrison)
Long, the daughter of John II and Mary Morrison, was, it is reason-able to assume, named for her paternal grandmother, Catharine, the wife of John Morrison I.4. Daughter, Jennet Morrison (since deceased) — of full age, who distributed her share by will.5. Daughter, Sarah Morrison — aged about eighteen years.6. Daughter, Margaret Morrison — aged about sixteen years, under the guardianship of James Ewing.Asks For Land Joseph Morrison, the eldest (and only) son of John II and Mary Morrison, asked the court to deed him one-half of his father's estateof 306 acres, located in Cumberland Township, York (now Adams)
County, Province of Pennsylvania,
as his father, John Morrison II, had promised this to him during his lifetime but had "not legally made the legacy." The records do not state whether or not his (Joseph Morrison's) request was granted.Jennet (or Jane) Morrison, the daughter of John II and Mary Morrison, who predeceased her father, — being of full age, who distributed her full share by will, died in 1777 and is undoubtedly buried with other members of her family in Black's Graveyard (Upper Marsh Creek Presbyterian).In her will, which is recorded in Bill Book C, page 285, York County Courthouse, Jennet (or Jane) Morrison mentions the following members of her family—1. Mother, Mary Morrison.
2. Brother, Joseph Morrison.
3. Sister, Mary (Morrison) Owens.4. Sister, Catharine (Morrison)
Long.5. Sister, Martha (Morrison)
McCarthy.6. Sister, Sarah Morrison.
7. Sister, Margaret Morrison.Named Executors Mary Morrison, the mother of Jane (or Jennet) Morrison, and Adam Black were named execu-tors of the estate. Later Mary Morrison, in the matter of the estate of her husband and daughter, asked the court to appoint a substitute to take her place as executor.There is a tradition in the Buchanan-Morrison family that the old Buchanan graves, which were originally in Black's Graveyard, were located close to the Morrison family plot—in fact the two were side by side—along with the Orrs and the Armstrongs. Robert Smith, soon after the Evergreen Cemetery was opened, removed the bones of his ancestors, the Buchanans and the Smiths, to the new burial ground—thus further confusing the family genealogy. It would have been far better to have assisted with the preservation and upkeep of the old churchyard and kept an historical landmark intact.
However, the damage has been done, so the next stop is in the Evergreen Cemetery.John Buchanan, one of the emigrant brothers, who died in 1773, is buried under an old black slate stone, with the family coat-of-arms cut thereon, which covers an entire grave. In his will, recorded in Will Book C, page 145, York County Courthouse, John Buchanan mentions the following members of his family:—

1. Apparently his wife predeceased him for no widow is mentioned.

2. "To my son Samuel McCarty naught's ten children, ten pounds each." Special mention is made of Sarah Hunter, the eldest child of Samuel McCarty, who is also to receive ten pounds — "if she does not die before she is eighteen."3. "To my son's James McCarty the seven children, ten pounds each."The entire estate is to be sold and the money placed in the hands of Robert Smith, of Hamilton Bann Township, Storekeeper, who is also appointed guardian of the children mentioned above.4. "To my sister's son, Joseph Kyle."5. "To David Wilson, who married my brother's daughter."It is interesting to note that the above will clearly shows an inter-marriage between the Buchanan and McCarty families. The McCarty's, the emigrant ancestor and others were also originally buried in Black's Graveyard but, too, were later removed to the Evergreen Cemetery. They, the McCarty's, can also boast of an old black slate stone, with the family coat-of-arms, cut thereon, which may still be seen in the family plot in the local cemetery.Youngest Brother Walter Buchanan, thought to be the youngest of the emigrant brothers, died in 1778. The year is given on his tombstone as 1780 but this is obviously an error probably made when the inscription on the old marker was recut after being moved to the EvergreenCemetery. The will of Walter Buchanan was made in 1776 and entered to probate in 1778 and the following members of his family are listed therein—1. Wife, Mary Buchanan (Her maiden name was Mary Roney and she is buried with her husband.
The stone that marks both of their graves gives only her name—no date of birth or death.)

2. Son, James Buchanan.

3. Son, William Buchanan.

4. Son, Robert Buchanan.

5. Son, Walter Buchanan (second of the name).6. Daughter, Elizabeth Buchanan intermarried with Robert Smith.Bodies Were Removed
Note:—The bodies of Elizabeth Smith and her husband were also removed to the Evergreen Cemetery from Black's Graveyard. The inscription on the black slate stone (upright) marking their graves, reads—"In memory of Robert Smith who departed this life, August the 19th, 1769 in the 64th year of his age." Elizabeth, daughter of Walter and Mary Buchanan,
a wife of Robert Smith died March 1812 aged 74 years. Parents of Walter Smith."7. Daughter, Jennet (or Jane) (Buchanan) McClellan.8. Daughter, Mary (Buchanan)
Werron.9. Daughter, Margaret Roney
Buchanan.10. Daughter, Ann (Buchanan) Davison.David McClellan, who was probably a son-in-law, the husband of Jennet (or Jane) Buchanan, Robert Buchanan and William Buchanan, were named executors of Walter Buchanan's will, with —"my trusty friend, Samuel Edie, to be guardian to the executors."To judge from this data there are other unmarked Morrison and Buchanan graves in Black's Graveyard, among others there wife, Mary Morrison, who died in widow of John Morrison II.There is an additional family line, in connection with the Buchanan clan, also located in Black's Graveyard (Upper Marsh

his wife, was married to William

Let's Look At The Record

V.P. CANDIDATES
In Hot Scramble For Top Nomination
Vice Presidency Is Viewed As Judas KissBy JIM DAN HILL, Ph.D., President, Wisconsin State College, SuperiorGOVERNOR ROCKEFELLER is the first White House hopeful to defy all who may try to make a Vice President of him.He hurled the defiance long and loud enough in a special press conference to make most of the front pages.Generally the lead line carried the absolute
"under - no - circumstances" quotation. But down in the fine print are the "circumstances - could - develop - escape clause."All hopefuls for the top spot use that same hedge the first, second and third times that they absolutely refuse to consider the awful fate of becoming the Vice President of the United States.BEFORE THE ECHOES OF Rocky's disclaimer had died away,
Governor William G. Stratton, Republican, of Illinois, likewise looked with scorn upon the nation's number two job. Under no circumstances would he run for Nixon's post.The papers did not bother to put his escape clause in the subsequent print. Governor Stratton's additional remarks were sufficiently self-explanatory.Governor Stratton would not say he desired re-election. He coyly smiled and said he would be doing something in 1960 because he is too young to retire.He is only 45, the perfect age for Vice Presidential timber.
Thus no one was greatly surprised when Governor Stratton further said he would be at the Republican nominating convention as leader of his state's bloc of approximately 60 delegates.He thought the Illinois delegation would be uninstructed, but undoubtedly would vote as a unit.
All this suggests rather fully that a thin, low whisper in a smoke filled room would be enough of a circumstance to cause the alert, young Governor from Illinois to change his mind.IN THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY the genteel, soft sell of the top contenders has become so intense that Senators Johnson, Kennedy, Humphrey, and Symington have not paused to consider the availability of a consolation prize known as the Vice Presidency.In the art of soft selling, Senator Lyndon B. Johnson, of Texas,seems to have the edge. His opponents are often doing his campaigning for him by tacitly admitting he is the man to beat. Meanwhile friends are quietly lining up delegations in the South and Southwest.Accordingly, Johnson was the only one of the Democratic top contenders who did not have a campaign spokesman representing him at the recent Governors Conference.
There is no reason why a man who can afford to be so silent about the top spot should discuss the number two nomination.GOVERNOR A. A. RIBICOFF, of Connecticut, is spearheading
the forces for Senator John F.
Kennedy.His pitch, without so much as a trader's glance at the Vice Presidency, is for all fellow Democratic governors to discourage the sending of delegations pledged to favorite sons.Delegates should be specifically instructed, preferably for Kennedy, but, nevertheless, instructed, Ribicoff argues. Uninstructed and favorite son delegations are made

ORIOLES BOW TO HARSHMAN AS TRIBE WINS

By ED WILKS

Associated Press Sports Writer Jack Harshman, unable to hold jobs with two clubs because he couldn't win, now is Cleveland's surprise crutch, giving the Indians the left-handed pitching Herb Score was supposed to deliver in their run for the American League pennant.

Harshman's bad back led to a "damaged goods" squawk by Baltimore after a 1957 winter deal with the Chicago White Sox. But he stuck with the Orioles and won 12 last year, three of them shutouts.

This season, his back still corseted, Harshman was 0-6 and the Birds traded him to Boston. He won two for the Red Sox, then lost three and they sold him to second-place Cleveland.

Wins For Indians
Now, with Cleveland scrambling to catch the White Sox, Harshman suddenly has won two, saved one and lost none—figuring in half of the Indians' six victories in their last 11 games.

The big southpaw, 32, won his second Friday night, blanking Baltimore on three singles for a 5-0 decision that gave the Indians a three-game streak and left 'em within 2½ games of Chicago.

The White Sox cut their slump at two, coming from behind for a 5-4 edge over Washington as reliever Gerry Staley won his sixth straight.

New York belted Kansas City 9-7, and Detroit beat Boston 2-0 on Paul Foytack's four-hitter and Al Kaline's two-run homer.

In the National League, San Francisco moved 2½ games ahead by sweeping a two-night pair at Philadelphia 6-0, and 10-6. Second-place Los Angeles beat Pittsburgh 6-5 while third-place Milwaukee, idled by rain against Chicago, fell five games behind. Cincinnati defeated St. Louis 2-1.

Come From Behind
The White Sox scored two unearned runs in the first, then had to come from behind after the Senators chased Dick Donovan with two in the sixth for a 3-2 edge. Johnny Romano's two-run pinch single got back the lead for Staley (7-3) in the sixth.

Foytack (12-10) walked but one and struck out eight, allowing one hit after the second inning for his first victory over Boston in five decisions. Kaline's 22nd home run came in the third against Bill Monbouquette (4-5). It followed a walk to Harvey Kuenn.

The Yankees blew 2-0 and 5-3 leads and finally needed Ryne Duren's save after the A's scored one in the ninth. With one out and the bases loaded, Duren struck out Joe DeMaestri and got Roger Maris on a foul.

Eastern League

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Williamsport Grays have good hitting and good pitching going for them in the Eastern League pennant race. And they've got something else—the fact that their two closest rivals for the league lead are busy knocking each other off.

Williamsport banged out 19 hits to back up southpaw John Dewald in a 13-5 win over Reading Friday night. Meanwhile, Allentown and Springfield tangled again, with the A-sox coming out on top 7-1. The win left Springfield 2½ games off of first place, with the Sox a half a game behind them.

The Grays staged two big scoring innings of seven and five runs apiece and aided Dewald to his sixth win against three losses. The big hit of the game was Fred Hopke's 23rd homer, a three-run blow in the third inning. Cooter Jones also homered for Reading, bringing in two of the losers' runs. Ron Taylor (7-8) was the loser.

Bob Tillman, with two homers, drove in five runs for Allentown in the Sox' victory over second place Springfield. Bill Thom, now 3-3, pitched six-hit ball for the winners, while Jim Meyers (12-10) was the loser.

A neat relief job by Pat Utley, Leroy Thomas' 20th homer of the season and Richie Windle's eighth along with three hits apiece by Joe Arenivar and Don Brummer, all added up to a 10-3 victory for Binghamton over York. The win moved the Triplets into a virtual fourth place tie with Reading. Both are now 12 games off the pace.

At Lancaster, righthander John Janese got his first win since July 9 with a 7-2-3 inning relief stint as the Red Roses beat Albany 4-2 and switched places with the Senators in the league cellar. Lancaster's clean-up hitter, Lou Jackson, with three hits and as many runs, was the big man in the scoring. The win was Janese's ninth against eight losses, while Stan Horvath (7-10) was nipped for the loss.

GIANTS BEAT PHILS TWICE; DODGERS WIN

By ED WILKS

Associated Press Sports Writer It's been an odd season of success for Johnny Antonelli, San Francisco's lefty ace who was upset by "lousy fly balls," and who can't beat Milwaukee, yet is closing in on 20 victories for the first time in three years.

Since losing two straight three weeks ago (beaten by these fly balls that went for homers in the Giants' windy home park), Antonelli has won three of four decisions while San Francisco has jumped into the National League lead.

Antonelli tied Milwaukee's Lew Burdette for the major league lead with his 17th victory Friday night. He did it with an eight-hitter that put the opener away as San Francisco moved 2½ games ahead with a 6-0 and 10-6 twilight doubleheader sweep at Philadelphia.

Dodgers Beat Bucs

Second-place Los Angeles defeated Pittsburgh 6-5, but the third-place Braves fell five games behind when their game with the Chicago Cubs was rained out. Cincinnati defeated St. Louis 2-1.

Singles by Giants' Jackie Brandt and Orlando Cepeda dropped Robin Roberts (11-13) in the first inning. The Giants made it a breeze for Anty (17-7) with three in the sixth.

Young Mike McCormick (11-10) beat the Phils in the second game. He allowed only three hits, one Wally Pate's 18th homer, but needed Stu Miller's relief after giving up his fifth walk in the seventh. The Giants got this one with seven runs in the fourth.

Dodgers Stage Rally

The Dodgers came from behind with four runs in the seventh against Ronnie Kline (8-12), then scored the clincher in the ninth when the Bucs missed a double play on a bases-loaded grounder by pinch-hitter Carl Furillo.

Reds' rookie Jay Hook (3-3) gave up a first-inning homer by Joe Cunningham, then blanked the Cards the rest of the way on four hits. He also singled and scored the winning run on Gus Bell's single off Larry Jackson (10-12) in the fifth.

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—The Civil War's last surviving veteran remained in critical condition today. Doctors Friday night reported no change in the condition of Walter W. Williams, 116, his daughter Mrs. Willie Mae Bowles, said the old soldier has been taking liquid nourishment but "he's been asleep" since early Thursday.

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (AP)—Harry S. Truman says he can show Nikita Khrushchev "some things he hasn't seen before" if the Soviet premier comes to Independence.

The former president said Friday he would be glad to have Khrushchev visit the Truman Memorial Library.

Delone Has Bright Grid Outlook With 13 Veterans Again Seeking Positions

When a high school football coach has 13 lettermen returning from the previous year, things are looking bright, and that is the way it is for Alan "Bucky" Kempton, new head football coach at Delone Catholic High.

Among the 52 players who reported the first day of practice, 13 are lettermen. Kempton is pleased with this number but doesn't hesitate to say that as far as he is concerned every position is wide open and by September 11 when the Squires play their first game against rival Hanover, the best men will be starting.

Kempton has taken on the line as his full charge and left the backfield in the command of his assistant John T. Flaherty.

The Squires have been holding two sessions a day which will last until the first day of school. Squad field practice is held from 9:30 to 11:30 o'clock and the afternoon sessions begin at 3:30 and end at 5:30 p.m. A half hour before each drill, skull sessions are held followed by the specialties.

Delone's lettermen include: Ends, Charlie McClintock, Pat O'Brien and Romanus Gastley; tackles, Harry Walters and Charlie Topper; guards, Bob Long and Don Arigo; center, Bob O'Brien; quarterback, Dave Topper; halfbacks, Dick Bollinger, Cyril "Sugar" Hockensmith and Pat Sheaffer, and fullback, Chick Lively.

COACHES LIKE YANK TEAMS IN PAN-AM GAMES

By MURRAY ROSE

Associated Press Sports Writer CHICAGO (AP)—The head coaches of Uncle Sam's male track and field and swimming teams called their squads "tremendous" today and said they expected records to be shattered in every direction in the Pan-American Games.

Both Chick Werner, of Penn State, the athletics chieftain, and Charles McCaffrey Jr., of Michigan State, the swimming top kick predicted a huge harvest of gold medals for the United States in the third Western Hemisphere sports show, Aug. 27-Sept. 7.

"Our swim team is the greatest ever assembled by the United States," said McCaffrey. "I think every Pan-American record will be broken."

"Probably the greatest team ever put together," was Werner's comment about his mighty squad. "Most of the Pan-American records will be broken."

"Fierce Competition"
The competition among the United States entries will be fierce. Almost to a man they're aiming for gold medals here and a foot in the door for the 1960 Olympic Team.

The swimmers are headed by recent world record breakers Mike Troy (butterfly) and Frank McKinney (backstroke) of Indiana, and 18-year-old Alan Somers, the Indianapolis schoolboy who posted the second fastest 1,500 meters ever.

The track and fielders include three 1955 Pan-American champs in 400-meter hurdler Josh Culbreath, shot putter Parry O'Brien and hammer thrower Bob Backus; and seven 1956 Olympic gold medalists in O'Brien, hurdlers Lee Calhoun and Glenn Davis, discus thrower Al Oeter, hammer thrower Harold Connolly, high jumper Charlie Dumas and broad jumper Greg Bell.

NEW DELHI (AP)—A power-house and inspection galleries were flooded today in the huge Bhakra Dam, pride of India's development program.

The flood was caused by a crack in the right diversion tunnel carrying water of the Sutlej River around the dam. Emergency gates were lowered to prevent a serious flood Friday and the 740-foot-high dam was reported safe. The left diversion tunnel has been closed for a year to allow the lake behind the dam to fill up.

COLENSO, South Africa (AP)—A stone-throwing mob of African women marched through this Natal province town Friday night protesting against the white man's rules and dispersed only after police threatened to open fire.

About 50 chanting and shouting women reached the municipal beerhall, smashing all windows. Colenso is 27 miles north of Es-cort, where Africans fought police with spears, stones and sticks Thursday night. Three Africans were wounded, one by gunfire.

LONDON (AP)—Lady Churchill has a paralyzed eyelid, her secretary said today.

Lady Churchill is due to enter a hospital Monday for a minor eye operation. She returned from the French Riviera Thursday. Her husband, Sir Winston, is still on holiday there.

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—"He is quite a healthy man," said heart specialist Dr. Paul Dudley White of President Eisenhower Friday.

Dr. White said he has not been asked to examine the President before Eisenhower's planned trip to Europe.

ANNUAL DRIVE
BERLIN, Wis. (AP)—The local volunteer fire department, wise in the ways of fire buffs, conducted its annual fund drive with a minimum of effort this year. Instead of beating a path from door to door in the community, the fire ladders just turned on the siren and let it wail.

When a substantial proportion of the 5,000 population converged on the station to find out where the fire was, firemen passed the hat. Collected: $600.

NELLIE FOX IS SWAMPED WITH GIFTS

CHICAGO (AP)—Nellie Fox, the Chicago White Sox hustling second baseman, hasn't even been to see a world series game or played in one.

"I intend to do both this year," said Fox, Friday night as fans honored him with a present-giving night at Comiskey Park where the Sox beat the Washington Senators 5-4 to continue their American League pennant drive.

Jacob Nelson Fox, to give him his full title, was swamped with gifts and applause at the festivities. On hand for the occasion were his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Fox of St. Thomas, Pa. Fifteen years ago, they went with him for his first major league tryout with the old Philadelphia Athletics. Nellie was only 16 then, and the folks were a little nervous about him.

634th Consecutive Game
Nellie played his 634th consecutive game for his fans, and the only thing that marred the evening was that he didn't get a hit.

His gifts included an automobile, a station wagon, a sailboat, a round trip to Hawaii with all expenses paid, silverware, cigars, a freezer, glassware, gift certificate, a year's supply of shoes for himself, his wife and two children, a fur stole, bicycles for the two girls, savings bonds, clothing and lots more.

"Gosh, they don't have to go to all this fuss over me. Naturally I appreciate it, but it sort of gives me the jitters to stand out in front of all these people by myself," he said before the ceremonies.

Fox, who was acquired from the A's in 1950, has been on 10 All-Star teams and has played in nine All-Star games. He's currently working on the best batting average of his career, sporting a .320 at the moment.

The 5-8, 162-pounder is almost certain to lead the league in total hits for the fifth time and for the third year in succession.

In the off-season, Fox, who is the highest paid White Sox player with a salary of about $45,000, operates a bowling alley in Chambersburg, Pa.

Manager Al Lopez has this to say about Fox:

"He's a manager's ideal player. Fox gives you 140 per cent at all times. I can't think of a player who gives more and does more for his team than Nellie."

Need 90 Games
At what pace will the Giants have to play to cop the flag? Rigney thought a minute, then observed:

"I'd say we have to win 90 games to clinch. Let's see. We've got 32 left, that would be 20-21 to the end, that would be .625 ball."

Rigney went on:

Need Streak
"This is going to be close down to the wire. We need a little streak to sew it up. You know, we haven't won more than four in a row all season."

Rigney said that the Giants had been lucky in recent days.

"When we lost, so did the Dodgers and Milwaukee."

And let me say here that the Braves aren't dead," commented Rigney.

AFB Opens Talks On New Franchises

DALLAS (AP)—A meeting of the American Football League, which in 1960 becomes a rival of the aged National Football League, opened here today with franchises the major topic.

Although the meeting was called by Lamar Hunt, the wealthy young Dallas oil man, to adopt a constitution and make plans for the circuit's first draft, there was talk that an application for a franchise might be made by Buffalo.

Already Seattle is trying to qualify for a spot in the league and has until Sept. 13 to do it.

The six charter members of the league are Dallas, Houston, Minneapolis-St. Paul, New York, Los Angeles and Denver.

Previously tagged the "Savage Six," Art Donovan, Gene Lipscomb, Odell Braase, Don Joyce, Gino Marchetti and Ray Krouse form an almost impenetrable defense for the National Football League champion Colts.

The veteran crew has not allowed a touchdown in the Colts' two exhibition games this season. Last week, they bear-hugged the College All-Stars in a 29-0 Baltimore victory.

Get Field Goal

Friday night against the New York Giants only Pat Summerall's field goal interfered with the Six Tons' fun as the Colts romped 29-3 over the team they edged for the NFL title last year in a sudden death playoff.

In the night's only other game, Eddie Le Baron connected on 13 of 23 passes for 264 yards to lead Washington to a 24-21 victory over Los Angeles. The game drew 140,888 fans, 85,888 at Los Angeles and 55,000 at Dallas.

There's a full schedule tonight. The Chicago Cardinals and Pittsburgh Steelers meet in a nationally televised game (ABC, 10 p.m., EST) at Austin, Tex., Cleveland plays Detroit at Akron, Ohio and Chicago's Bears tackle Philadelphia at Boston.

Sunday: Green Bay is at San Francisco.

Need 90 Games
At what pace will the Giants have to play to cop the flag? Rigney thought a minute, then observed:

"I'd say we have to win 90 games to clinch. Let's see. We've got 32 left, that would be 20-21 to the end, that would be .625 ball."

Rigney went on:

Need Streak
"This is going to be close down to the wire. We need a little streak to sew it up. You know, we haven't won more than four in a row all season."

Rigney said that the Giants had been lucky in recent days.

"When we lost, so did the Dodgers and Milwaukee."

And let me say here that the Braves aren't dead," commented Rigney.

Poultry Worms Expensive To Feed; Diseases Of Oak, Longer Grazing Discussed

By FRANK S. ZETTLE
Adams County Farm Agent

Work in poultry tend to increase during late summer and fall, and such internal parasites can be costly.

Although worms cause a minor death loss, they are responsible for retarded growth, loss of meal and egg production, wasted feed and labor, and inefficient use of housing and labor.

Poor management is largely responsible for the increase in incidence of worms in farm flocks. Growers often use the same range year after year and often mix old and new flocks.

Intermediate Hosts
As a result, most farm flocks are infected with several different species of worms, including large roundworms, cecal worms, and tapeworms. The incidence of tapeworms seems to vary from year to year because they depend on an intermediate host such as flies, beetles, and slugs.

It is best to obtain a diagnosis to determine which types of worms are present, and which medication is best to use. Worm medicines will do the job if the correct amount of the right medicine is used.

Not Always Oak Wilt

Two oak diseases with twin-like symptoms are causing confusion in Pennsylvania this year. One is oak wilt, which because of its brash and brutal nature has been widely publicized. The other is anthracnose, a common leaf disease on oaks, which in late spring or early summer is often mistaken for wilt. Both diseases are caused by fungi, but that's where the similarity ends.

Anthracnose is limited to the leaves and some of the twigs. Oak wilt is an internal disorder which makes control more difficult. It will the fungus hides away in the water-carrying cells, thus making it immune to all external poison sprays.

In anthracnose parts of the leaves may die. They distort, but may or may not fall to the ground. In the case of wilt, however, leaves cascade from the tree, some appearing healthy and others showing the characteristic brown, irregular spots. The symptoms distinguishing the two disorders in this abnormal summer leaf fall in the case of oak wilt.

Anthracnose Not Fatal

Anthracnose is especially common on white oaks, but other species may be attacked. The infected tree does not ordinarily die. Oak wilt is fatal almost without exception.

Control is entirely different. Anthracnose, being superficial, is controlled by two or three sprays of an organic mercury such as puratized agricultural spray. August is too late to begin. First application is recommended when buds are bursting, and the second and third sprays are made at 10 or 14 day intervals.

Wilt is not easily controlled. Sprays applied to the foliage are ineffective. Experiments with the disease are aimed at control by injections into the tree or absorption by the roots or leaves. Present oak wilt control is based upon prompt removal of diseased trees to prevent further spread.

Get More Grazing

Want to get more grazing from your pasture? You can do it . . . in fact, by following a few simple steps you can get six to eight weeks of extra pasture.

Here's what to do. Right now is a good time to apply nitrogen to bluegrass pastures. About 50 pounds of actual nitrogen will do the trick. Under good conditions you can double or even triple your pasture production.

Small grains are mighty hard to beat for pasture this fall . . . and next spring. One acre can take care of four animal units. Balbo rye or Dual wheat planted right now will be ready to graze in about six weeks. Seed these at the rate of three bushels per acre. Field brome grass also makes excellent late fall pasture . . . be sure to top dress with nitrogen, though.

Plenty Of Fertilizer

If you plan to use rye or wheat don't skimp on the fertilizer. If a soil test is not available, work into the seedbed, prior to seeding, at least 400 pounds of 10-10-10 or equivalent. Drill in 200 pounds of 5-10-10 or equivalent at time of seeding. Higher rates may cause excessive seed injury if the soil is dry.

For maximum returns next spring, top dress your small grain

On The House

By ANDY LANG
The Associated Press

Quite a few persons, it seems, are interested in how to save money. As if we didn't know that already, it was brought home to us more pointedly as a result of a three-sentence item we wrote in this column recently.

The item in question said that a national test disclosed that the average American home, if properly designed and insulated, can be heated and air conditioned for $8.44 per month in the South to $14.60 in the North.

In came the queries. In effect, they added up to the same thing: tell us more. Frankly, we didn't have much more information on hand at the time. But we do have now—and here it is:

Started Three Years Ago
The test program was started three years ago by a major corporation. Under the direction of the company's technical consultant, 116 houses were selected for the test. The present findings are based on complete data for 70 of the houses. The remaining 46 will be reported on later.

The houses are regular models built by professional builders. Of the 70, there are 21 in the North, 30 in the Central area and 19 in the South. They vary in size from 900 to 2,600 square feet of living space and in style from traditional to contemporary through one, two and split-level floor plans. The only differences in the houses involved the insulation, the shading of windows and large glass areas and the improvement of the attic ventilation.

The insulation requirement was set at six inches of regular or three inches of foil-enclosed insulation blankets in ceilings, three inches in sidewalls and three inches in floors over crawl spaces or two inches of perimeter insulation for slabs. Submeters were installed by utility companies to isolate the costs of heating and cooling from other fuel and power expenditures.

20 To 50 Per Cent Savings
Based on 1,200 square feet of living space, the test showed the $8.44 per month cost in the South and the $14.60 in the North, with a $12.30 cost in the Central Area. Smaller houses so designed and insulated would cost less, larger houses more. In general, the home owner who built with proper design and full insulation could save from 20 to 50 per cent in annual heating and cooling costs over houses conforming only to FHA minimum requirements.

Along with these tangible savings, occupants told company interviewers of many intangible benefits they discovered. Eighty-five per cent reported fewer drafts and cold spots than in their previous homes. Nine out of ten said they slept better in the summer. Those normally bothered by dust and pollen said they had less discomfort. Housekeeping was reported easier because of less dirt and dust. And homes were said to be quieter from outside noise.

ORRTANNA — Mr. and Mrs. Milo Wetzel and children, Kay and Ann, of Indian Head, Md., spent the weekend with Mr. Wetzel's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Harman Spence and other relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Clark E. Spence, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Boyd and Patsy Harbaugh of here, and Mr. and Mrs. John Loucks and children, Iva Kay and Eva May of Carlisle, spent Sunday as guests of the former's daughter, Sandra Spence, at Camp Easter Seal, Somerset, Pa.

Mrs. Leila McDannel of here, and her father, Harry Richardson, Fairfield, have returned from two weeks vacation to Columbia, South Carolina, where they visited relatives. They made the trip by train from Washington, D. C., and were accompanied to and from Washington by the former's son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Jay McDannel.

COLLECTION OF SALE TAX GOES WELL FIRST DAY

HARRISBURG (AP)—Some confusion developed but in most areas collection of Pennsylvania's sales tax at its new 4 per cent rate ran smoothly Friday, the first full day it was on the books.

In Philadelphia, the State's largest city, agents of the Sales Tax Bureau had to stop some bartenders who had been collecting the tax on over-the-bar drinks.

The tax bill's provision on alcoholic beverages extends only to retail sales by beer distributors and at state liquor stores.

Reports in a statewide check showed some confusion among businesses that were unaffected by the levy until the new law was signed by Gov. Lawrence Thursday. These included laundries, dry cleaning firms and shoe repairmen.

Confusing To Compute
Business places found the 4 per cent tax less confusing to compute than the 3½ per cent levy it replaced.

The state's more than 600 liquor stores started collecting the tax within minutes after it became law.

"We had everything set up ahead of time," said Frank J. Shea, secretary of the Liquor Control Board. "We had advised stores with tables on the possible cutoffs on brackets for collection of the higher rate compared to the old rate."

The first sales tax became law in 1952 and expired temporarily in 1955. It was revived at 3 per cent in 1956 and jumped to 3½ per cent last April 15.

CITY HAS TWO BLACKOUTS
NEW YORK (AP)—About 21,000 New Yorkers sweltered through two more power blackouts Friday and early today. But neither was as serious as Manhattan's mass power failure last Monday, which lasted 12 hours and affected half a million people.

Friday night and today's most serious blackout inconvenienced an estimated 20,000 people living on a three-mile stretch of Rockaway Peninsula, in Queens.

The lights winked out on the strip of land, which juts into the Atlantic Ocean, at 10:43 p.m. and came back on at 1:01 a.m. The population is largely made up of summer residents and vacationers.

The second Manhattan blackout, which lasted only an hour Friday came at twilight. A fashionable one-block apartment house area

CLERIC WARNS SODALITIES

SOUTH ORANGE, N.J. (AP)—Richard Cardinal Cushing, archbishop of Boston, says Roman Catholics must guard against the misuse of terms such as peace, Americanism, communism and democracy.

"We must develop the ability to recognize things for what they are and give them the proper name," he said Friday night.

"We must not allow bigotry to be cloaked as Americanism and communism to be called liberalism or progressive democracy."

Cardinal Cushing spoke to the Second World Sodality Congress at Seton Hall University.

The congress has brought together some 5,000 delegates representing sodalities in 40 nations, including six Iron Curtain countries. A sodality is a local organization of Catholic laymen and clerics pledged to apply the teachings of the church to everyday life.

near Central Park West was involved. About 1,000 persons live there.

The section was one of the 50 blocks stricken on Monday. The Manhattan failure was blamed on an underground power cable which grounded out. The Queens failure resulted from water seeping into a major fuse, causing a short circuit.

A new 11,500-ft. airstrip, the longest in the Pacific, will be completed in June, 1961, in Papeete, Tahiti's capital.
